ATTENDANCE

We want to see your child in school. Maintaining a regular sleep schedule and a proper diet can help avoid catching a cold. To reach our goal of all students attending 95% of school days, staying healthy needs to be a priority. We appreciate your efforts in helping change the way our community views attendance. Please help us by encouraging your student to attend school daily and build a successful foundation for life.

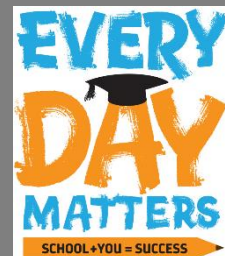

Remember, Every Day Matters! School + You = Success

FICTION WRITING

One of the new electives offered this year is "Fiction Writing" with Mrs. Baertlein. In this class, students move beyond the short pieces we typically teach in creative writing and take on a new challenge. There are 23 students in the class-- mostly juniors and seniors along with five brave underclassmen. Most of the students are writing novels or short story compilations, but one senior is creating a book of poetry, one senior is writing a screenplay, and one junior is writing a mixed media literary magazine. Each student has a word count goal and has to make adequate progress with their first draft. Once students reach their goals, they will spend the last four weeks of the term editing and revising. We are so proud of these students and their determination to meet these ambitious goals and look forward to being able to read their finished work!
