

Quinton Dantzler

Securing His Career Before Graduating from High School!

One of our outstanding seniors, Quinton Dantzler, who will graduate from Calhoun County High this June 6th will actually have his first graduation ceremony at OCTECH in May! How could this be you say? Quinton has started his future in the Transportation Field by beginning his coursework in the Professional Truck Driving Department at Tech this month. He actually took it upon himself and went out on his own to start working on his dream career months earlier by researching what it takes to begin the actual certification process. Quinton went ahead and secured both his D.O.T. (Department of Transportation) physical along with his South Carolina Commercial Beginner's Permit even before meeting with Sandra Moore, Dean of Continuing Education, Corporate Training & Economic Development at OCTECH. That's impressive! When a student asked Quinton what his ultimate career goal in trucking might be, he responded "to have my own trucking line one day". Our school district is happy to say his future is on the right track and starts now!
