

Juniors,

The Alabama State Department of Education is now providing each junior with an online ACT Preparation Account. This program was compiled by ACT, who is responsible for the ACT test given to students. This affords you the opportunity to practice and prepare for your February 20th, 2019 ACT exam. Each of you has been given an email and password that will allow you access to numerous study aides, practice questions and quizzes; do not wait until the last week to begin your preparation. You will need to work through each module for English, math, science and reading to be successful in improving your scores. Begin your practice this week and work daily on this website.

The ACT online Prep Account is a great tool and enables you to increase your scores if used properly. ACT scores help determine financial aid, scholarships, acceptance into colleges and remediation. Community Colleges like LBWCC and EOCC use these scores to determine if you are required to take remediation courses. Remediation course are costly and delay you from starting your required courses for your degrees or certifications.

I strongly encourage you to begin this prep course immediately and stay on track to prepare for your test.
