

BROCK'S GAP –PARENT ACADEMY

The pre-teen and teen brain goes through a significant developmental stage from ages 12-25. The portion of the brain responsible for judgment, reasoning, logic, planning starts developing much later than the pleasure seeking, risk taking portions of the brain that start around age 12 with the onset of puberty.

Resources:

<http://www.cdc.gov/ncbddd/childdevelopment/positiveparenting/>

<http://www.drugfree.org/teenbrain>

