Creeping around the corner and watching your every move: FAFSA. This time, however, FAFSA made it to the front page. FAFSA was important when it was featured in our last newsletter, and this time is no different; armed with new information, you may need to begin gathering your parents' tax forms. Leaving no room for slack, Ms. Fitzpatrick gave us a quote specifically about FAFSA and its importance: "[FAFSA] is important if you are attending any type of school once you graduate because if you do not complete a FAFSA, a college will not even look at you or consider you for any type of financial aid."

Now, if you continued reading up to this point, then you are probably the friend who will give the rest of your Senior friends a heart attack when you tell them this: Both the student and the parent/guardian of the student applying for FAFSA will need an FSA ID. If you have not made one, then please contact Ms. Fitzpatrick at sfitzpatrick@ozarkcityschools.net. Alongside your FSA ID, you will need your driver's license, social security number, and your parent/guardian's completed 2015 IRS Income Tax Form.

Once more, FAFSA night will be held at the Career Center at 227 Faust Avenue on February 18 from 6:00 P.M. - 8:00 P.M. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Ms. Fitzpatrick at the e-mail address previously listed or call the Career Center at (334) 774-4949.

The Trans-Pacific Partnership

An aggregation of issues and ten years of negotiating: the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) is the newest agreement affecting U.S. economy, trade, and relations. Alongside eleven other countries in the Asia-Pacific, including Canada and Mexico, this agreement forecasts the elimination of over 18,000 taxes that affect Made-In-America products. Accompanying the elimination of a monstrous multitude of taxes, the Trans-Pacific Partnership predicts benefiting the middle class by rewriting the rules of trade. The TPP strives to solve "21st century issues within the global economy" and "unlock opportunities [for trade]," reports the New York Times; despite the promising advocacy of the middle class, the TPP has produced intense opposition, as opponents of the accord are worried that this will lead to an increase in foreign job exportation and a massive price increase in products such as pharmaceuticals.

Alabama State Midwife

Surprise, surprise! What started as a routine day for Trooper Michael Kesler turned into one he will never forget. On Sunday morning around 6:40 A.M., Kesler pulled over a couple for speeding, and while in the middle of questioning the husband, the wife suddenly went into labor. Quick on his feet, Kesler immediately helped deliver the healthy baby boy. Afterwards, he called for an ambulance and kept the mother and baby warm until they were transferred to Athens Hospital. The first documentations of baby Barrett are the notes that Danny Lowe, the new father, was speeding.

I got all this candy, but it's still not as sweet as you.

Historically Loved

The history of Valentine's Day—and the story of its patron saint—is shrouded in mystery and filled with legends. One legend contends that Valentine was a priest who served during Roman times. After Emperor Claudius II outlawed marriage for young men because single men were better soldiers, Valentine defied Claudius and continued to perform marriages for young lovers in secret. According to one legend, an imprisoned Valentine actually sent the first “valentine” greeting himself after he fell in love with a young girl who visited him during his confinement. Before his death, it is said that he wrote her a letter signed, “from your Valentine.”

CHOCOLATE?! CHOCOLATE?! CHOOOOOOCOLATE!

We see it everywhere: Those dancing kisses being created in a factory, the happiness of Hershey's chocolate on a toasted marshmallow, or the combination like no other with Reese's. However, there is more than meets the eye. Chocolate has a lot of health benefits such as being one of the most antioxidant rich foods out there and literally making you happy by releasing the “feel good” hormone serotonin. Hold on—before you go out and buy sixty bars of chocolate, there's another side to this, too. All of these benefits are mostly from a certain part of chocolate known as cacao, and sadly, Hershey's chocolate did not even have cacao in it until 2006 when it was required by law. Even now, it only has the minimum required amount of cacao in it. Do not worry, though; it still has that happy effect that everyone gets addicted to.

Gotta get that good food before prom night!

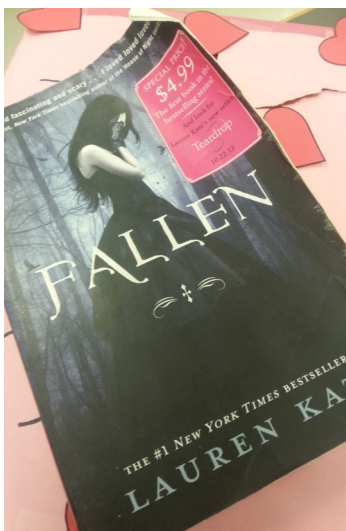

Dad, There Is Raw Fish on My Plate

Do you like Asian-style food? Why not try something new? If you have not already, try a restaurant called Mikata's. This is a Japanese steakhouse and sushi bar. The restaurant is based off a Japanese idea of cooking where they consider it not only food but an art. This is a place where they take cooking to the next level; they cook right in front of you so that you can see all of your food prepared on a hibachi grill, and they like to spice it up with entertainment and humor. They are also known to do birthdays, engagements, and more. They have several locations in the area such as 4600 Montgomery Hwy (open from 5 P.M. - 9 P.M.) and 1109 Boll Weevil Cir (open from 11 A.M. - 2 P.M.). The restaurants have a four star rating—almost five—and the food is absolutely amazing.

The Mysterious, The Courageous, The Fallen

Lauren Kate's Fallen is a must-read. From the first page to the last, you will find yourself lost in this engrossing book about a girl named Lucinda Price who has undergone many adventures and seen the world through different eyes all for one guy but is trapped in a continuous cycle in which she will never be together with him for a reason unknown to us. In the beginning, we are left a little unsettled and intrigued. Reading onward, we are introduced to the main character, and we know instantaneously that something is mysterious and aloof about this character. As we continue to read, we learn that she has undergone several lives just to be with one person. However, this is where the book ends and the rest of the series begins. I urge everyone who is into mystery and romance to pick up this book.

The Dirtier Dirty Grandpa

I recently went to see Dirty Grandpa, a comedy featuring Robert DeNero and Zack Efron. With such A-list actors, the filming and acting were fantastic. However, the biggest, most prominent downfall of the film? It was extremely vulgar. I spent half of the movie with my hands over my ears and my eyes closed. Despite this, if you all think you are strong enough to get through the "R-rated" content, go see it! I admire your bravery!

Eagle Spotlight!

We want to put the spotlight on some of our students. This week we would like to share your sweetheart notes!

To Micheal Guttowski: I'm in your 4th block class. You're my best friend now, but I've liked you since elementary. So I decided to write this, but it's awkward since we are in the same room right now.

To Cassidy Cook: You are amazing!!! -Tiffanie Ulmer

To Deandria: I admire your style. You're so beautiful and make my day just by smiling or talking to me. I love your goofy sense of humor. Even when I'm having a bad day, I know I can count on you to make it all better.

To Cheyenne Roberts: You're the only one I want and you always make me smile, so please say yes when I ask you out.
