MSMHS Seniors, Gonzalez & Powell, Accepted to Top 50 Colleges

GROTON, CT - As I walk the hallways, I love the way I hear about senior acceptances to top colleges and universities. "Hey Spera, my mom said I should tell you..." or "So I got into so-and-so College the other day, see you later." Although these phrases/approaches are known to all of us as 'typical teenager talk' - they still drive me insane!

This week, Emily Powell and Cassandra Gonzalez were both accepted to two top 50 colleges according to several college ranking websites.

Emily Powell, Noank, is the Student Council President and Vice President of the National Honor Society was accepted to Boston College on an academic scholarship.

Cassandra Gonzalez, Waterford, is an active participant with the MSMHS Interact Club and is one of the newest members of the National Honor Society was accepted to Bates College in Lewiston, ME.

In the upcoming weeks ahead, several of our students are anxiously waiting to hear back from some the top colleges and universities from around the country including a few of the Ivy League schools. Best of luck to the entire senior class on the upcoming acceptances! You have all worked hard for these acceptances. No matter if it is a yes or no, the MSMHS Family is proud of you!

Pagans Win Basketball Championship

(Sean Elliott, The Day)

On Saturday, the Pagan sisters, India and Tai, combined for almost half of New London High School's total points in the Class LL Championship game against Trumbull.

In front of 8,186 fans including members from the MSMHS Family at Mohegan Sun Arena, India Pagan led the New London Girls Basketball Team to her second championship in four years thanks to her 18 points and 11 rebounds. Although the CIAC does not award a Most Valuable Player for its Championship Games like most leagues, the MSMHS Fish Tales publication officially names India Pagan, the MVP of the 2017 Class LL Connecticut Girl Basketball Championship Game!
