

Poets' Pride

A poet's pride is the final product
A pride of poets begins the production

Waterslide

The slide goes up.
The water goes down.
As I jump in,
I twist and swirl.
I start to spin.
I'm acting like
My twin.

I jump and spin.
I'm on the right side,
My twin is on the left,
As we both slide
To get to the water.
I'm having so much fun
On the waterslide.

Water

Drip, drip.
The water drops off
the tree.
It fall silently
on a car.

Water

Water is refreshing
And really cold.
It's really fun to play with
When there is nothing to do.
Water is everywhere,
Even in the sky.
But then it evaporates
And changes.
