Commit to Making Every Monday A Healthier Start to the Week

Monday symbolizes the beginning of each week, a fresh start and the opportunity to begin something new. Much like when people make a New Year's resolution, people tend to use Monday as a day dedicated to health. A healthier start on a Monday often means a healthier week will follow.

To help students, staff and families create and maintain healthier behaviors, My Mondays, Sodexo's new educational campaign, will help promote healthy eating, physical activity, cooking and sustainable, earth-friendly behaviors.

This initiative has been modeled after the Mondays Campaign, which is a non-profit public health initiative associated with Johns Hopkins, Columbia and Syracuse Universities that dedicates the first day of every week to health. Every Monday, individuals and organizations across the globe join together to commit to the healthy behaviors that can help end chronic preventable diseases.

For more information on the Mondays Campaign, please visit <http://www.mondaycampaigns.org/>.

Sodexo is committed to promoting healthier food choices and encourages students and families to use the USDA MyPlate to build healthy and balanced meals.

MyMondays is Committed to Improving Health

Since wellness can mean different things to different people, Sodexo created "MyMondays" as a way for individuals to identify what health commitment is most important to jump start their personal health. It's your child's or your family's opportunity to decide how you will commit to improving your personal well-being. The four themes of MyMondays are consistent with the messages being shared in the global Mondays Campaign. Each month Sodexo's MyMondays educational program will feature messages and suggested activities to promote the four weekly recurring themes.

The four themes include:

1. Harvest Monday encourages students to try new foods and consume more plant-based foods like fruits and vegetables.
2. Move It Monday encourages students how to build activity into their daily lives.
3. Kids Cook Monday encourages families to find creative, kid-friendly ways to get students more involved in cooking at home. Cooking is an excellent and fun way to reinforce reading and math skills, as well as learn more about different cultures.
4. Kids Care Monday demonstrates to students behaviors that can help keep our Earth, schools and homes healthier.

This program was specifically designed to help schools who are ready to create a health education program, and are designed to provide ideas schools can implement regardless of their available resources. We encourage you and your family to learn more about these four key health-promoting topics, review our resources and commit to one new healthier behavior each week. If each week seems overwhelming, start with a new behavior each month. Building a healthier lifestyle begins with one small step that continues to build over time.
