

Catoosa Citizens for Literacy

The Catoosa Citizens for Literacy located in 9,100 square foot Learning Center offers free day and evening general education development (GED®) classes and provides free on-site childcare and free transportation to and from classes for residents in Catoosa County. In addition, college scholarships are available to assist students who have received their GED®.

The Catoosa Citizens for Literacy offers a reading program for those unable to read or who read at low-grade levels. Tutors work privately or in small group settings with students. The program is free.

For information about all of the learning programs, click here
<http://www.catoosacitizensforliteracy.org/about.html>