

Deep in the woods at night, next to a campfire, I was relaxing, when all of the sudden, I saw something that puzzled me. I frantically ran and saw a huge disc-shaped spaceship hovering above me and in front of me in an open pasture. Its bright, white light was arranged in a circular pattern as it moved closely to the ground where a cow was. The cow screamed, "Moooo!" as it was sucked into the ship. I quickly looked for a shelter deep in the woods, and I spotted a pile of dead branches and limbs. I crawled underneath the pile. I hoped it did not see me. The bright light beamed through the brush pile while I was trying to avoid it. I heard a high-pitched sound, and everything trembled. The branches and limbs flew away from me. I passed out and was sucked into the spaceship. When I woke up, my vision was blurry. I saw a figure with a big head, two fairly large black eyes, and a small lip closely staring at me. I panted out of fear as it walked away from me. Suddenly, the bright light beamed at me as the spaceship door opened. I ran and escaped from the ship back into the woods. In the woods, I spotted a large silver metal building with a door. I pressed the door button. The ground shook as the door opened. I glimpsed inside the building. Everything was dark as I could not see anything. Suddenly, the light came on. I saw two rows of long lines of people. At the end of the lines, there was my school principal, sitting on a throne. My friends were in the right line, and my teachers were in the left line. They acted very strange. I was so shocked. Then I saw my school principal pointing her finger at me, screaming as an alarm sound went off. My friends and teachers simultaneously moved their heads and slowly walked toward me, trying to catch me. I anxiously thought about what I needed to do. Oh, I had a great idea. I raised my hand and performed the Star Trek Vulcan salutation of "Live long and prosper." It is a raised hand, palm forward, and the middle and ring fingers spread apart. I saw my school principal's head move up with her mouth open. The bright light beamed out of her mouth the ground was trembling like an earthquake. The door opened, and I escaped. I ran for my life until I saw a U.S. military helicopter landing. I ran to the helicopter and rode away. What a relief!!!!
