Welcome to MAGNOLIA, the Mississippi Alliance for Gaining New Opportunities Through Library Information Access.

MAGNOLIA provides Mississippi residents with access to electronic databases through their local public, school, community college, or university libraries.

MAGNOLIA is funded by the Mississippi Legislature and partially funded by the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) administered by the Mississippi Department of Education.

MAGNOLIA Update

July 9, 2015

The Mississippi Legislature has again provided $1 million in support of MAGNOLIA. It is great to have this continued funding, but it doesn't cover all the costs that MAGNOLIA provides. While many libraries throughout the state provide funds in support of the MAGNOLIA project, it is clear that we will be unable to raise enough funds to cover our vendors (EBSCO and OCLC).

After reviewing the subscription costs and usage statistics of each database, the MAGNOLIA Steering Committee has made the difficult decision to discontinue the Reference. This subscription will end on July 31, 2015, and will be removed from the MAGNOLIA website at that time.

8.  Chihuahuas Overwhelm California Animal Shelters: LOS ANGELES, CA - DECEMBER 15: A Chihuahua waits adoption at a Los Angeles Department of Animal Services shelter on December 15, 2009 in Los Angeles, California. Chihuahuas make up about a third of the dogs at many California shelters, so many that some shelters are shipping Chihuahuas to other states to find homes. A shelter in Oakland sent about 100 to Arizona, Oregon and Washington. Recently, a Los Angeles city shelter flew 25 Chihuahuas to Nashua, New Hampshire where all found homes within a day through the local Humane Society. Experts have blamed the glut of abandoned Chihuahuas in California on the influence of pop culture, a bad economy, puppy mills and backyard breeders. Fans sometimes abandon the dogs when they are no longer new and cute to them or when expensive vet bills start to add up. The tiny dogs are named for the Mexican state of Chihuahua. Chapter 57

The discomposure of spirits which this extraordinary visit threw Elizabeth into, could not be easily overcome; nor could she, for many hours, learn to think of it less than incessantly. Lady Catherine, it appeared, had actually taken the trouble of this journey from Rosings, for the sole purpose of breaking off her supposed engagement with Mr. Darcy. It was a rational scheme, to be sure! but from what the report of their engagement could originate, Elizabeth was at a loss to imagine; till she recollected that his being the intimate friend of Bingley, and her being the sister of Jane, was enough, at a time when the expectation of one wedding made everybody eager for another, to supply the idea. She had not herself forgotten to feel that the marriage of her sister must bring them more frequently together. And her neighbours at Lucas Lodge, therefore (for through their communication with the Collinses, the report, she concluded, had reached lady Catherine), had only set that down as almost certain and immediate, which she had looked forward to as possible at some future time.

Styles of Citation

There are several styles and forms used to cite sources which support academic institutions have established standardized requirements for the most widely used styles of citation are:

Modern Language Association \(MLA\)

Chicago Manual of Style

American Psychological Association \(APA\)

Whatever style you are using, accuracy, clarity, and consistency are important to consider when citing various types of sources. Guidelines for citing are not yet standardized in most citation styles, as the constantly-changing databases and sources on the internet requires citation guidelines to be updated for their usefulness.

In general, most styles require that you not only identify reference sources in your essay, but also provide a separate list of works used in your research.
