Principal's Corner

The month of January has gone by so quickly and we now enter into the midpoint of the school year. February reminds us to love one another. February is also the month that we honor famous African Americans. Academically, we have some great strides to make. Everybody will be required to work extra hard in our efforts to reverse our current accountability status. Parents, I can't stress how important your role is in helping us attain a successful status. I want to encourage you to talk with your children about their behavior, ask them what they did at school each day, and talk with them about doing their best on school assignments and assessments.

Ms. Singleton
