

Bookaneer Success!

Reporters: Anna Delaney, Grace Buckwald, Monica Kobierowski

From November 15th to November 23rd, our school library hosted our annual book fair. The theme this year was pirates and the name of the book fair was Bookaneer!

One thing we liked best about the book fair was all of the money we were able to collect for our school. During the week the book fair ran, students were asked to collect coins throughout the week. If you brought in coins; you could do the fun activities like; dress like a pirate, wear a tattoo, or sport an eye patch. After all the coins were collected; Ms. Farrell was able to buy books for our school library, and purchase books from the teachers "wish lists". We collect a lot of coins- $608 to be exact. Here's how it broke down:

KG- $90.32	KC- $42.43
5D- $72.77	3M- $35.41
4L- $66.32	5E- $32.35
1K- $56.70	PreK- R- $27.32
1B- $53.49	2C- $13.59
4W- $50.50	3E- $13.14
2D- $46.38	PreK H- $7.32

Kailani's Corner

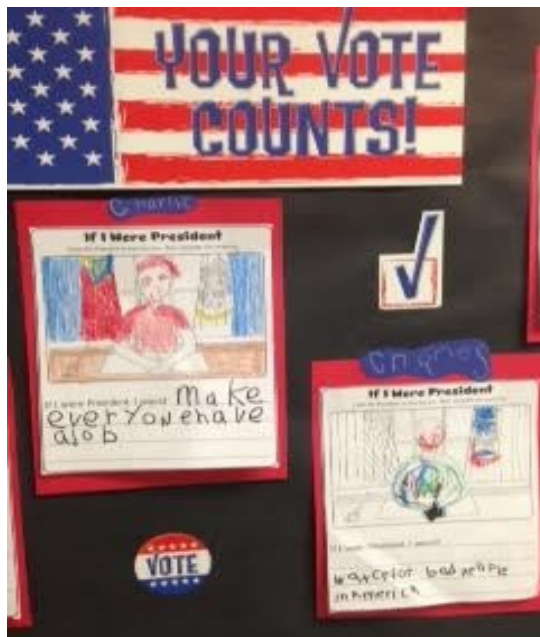

Welcome to 2016 Kailani's Corner

Hello!!!! My name is Kailani D'Antuono and I am an 8th grader at Margaret Mace Elementary School. The winter is a very different time for my family and I who work very hard the entire summer. I like to write and travel, and now I am sharing these adventures with you!

In the cold of the winter we hop on a plane and fly away to the warm Carolinas. Every four day weekend at the un-godly 5:30 in the morning and hop inside a flying metal tube. We end up at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina where our RV "Genie" is sitting in storage. From before this moment everything is the same... every trip the same flight, store, and RV storage place after we pickup our beloved mother home there's no going back.

On the weekend of the 10th-13th; which was parent teacher conference, so a 4 day weekend, we left only missing one day of school which is not a lot for us. Since it was only a four day weekend there wasn't much to do. My sister, Kiana is a very.... interesting person who turned 9 on the 20th of November. We spent the whole time scouting places to visit with my sister and Elderly Grandmother who is traveling for the first time in 16 years. We even got ticks for the "RedNeck Christmas Show" even though it was short and sweet trip; is was a lot of glorious down time.

Welcome Back to School

Falcon Flyer Staff– Reporters and Editors

Welcome Back to School!!!! Our first week back to school was filled with excitement and anticipation, as always! Who was in our class, are there new students, are there new teachers!? Will everyone like me, will they be nice, will they help me if I need help? The list goes on and on....

On Friday, September 9th, the administrative staff and teachers of Margaret Mace organized an eventful, fun-filled day packed with activities, games, and exercises to help take all of those worries away– continuing our great incentive based behavioral plan for the year– Mace Cards.

Mace Cards

Perhaps you have heard your child mention they received a Mace Card during their school day or they were lucky enough to receive a prize for this Mace Card– woohoo! Congratulations– your child was caught doing something great!

Teachers and staff are provided with Mace Cards to distribute to students throughout their day. Cards are earned for a variety of reasons such as acts of kindness– perhaps holding a door for someone, showing responsibility– bringing back important papers, or perhaps they were caught being a nice friend to someone new or they helped someone who needed help– all of these great acts receive a Mace Card.

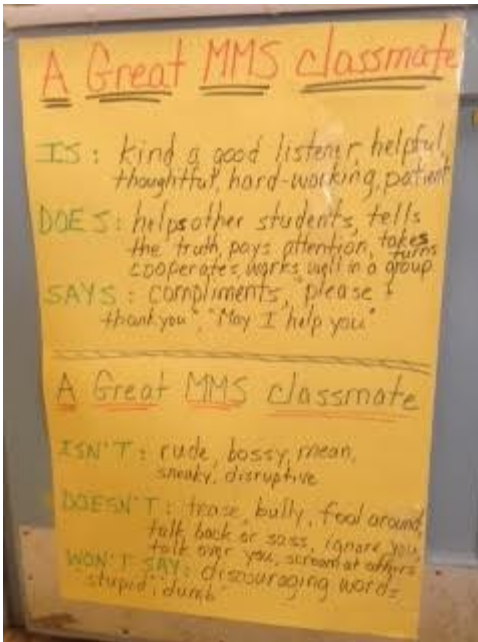

Cards are collected during each lunch period and throughout the month your child has the opportunity to have their name pulled from the box of collected cards to choose one of the great prizes.

What happens to the cards at the end of the month you may ask– don't fret, all cards continue to remain in the box throughout the year!

So if your child comes home and says they received a Mace Card– be proud, be VERY PROUD! They were caught doing something GREAT!

Activities & Games = FUN

Throughout the day on Friday, September 9th, activities and games were arranged according to grade levels. Trust building, friendship making, and lots of laughs and smiles were shared.

Below you are able to see what our classroom put together for what a good MMS Classmate should do & say and examples of what they should not do.

Also, you will read descriptions, picked from our Falcon Flyers Staff, from our olders students of what makes a great classmate, what is expected of them, and how they would like to be treated for an amazing year at school.

We hope you enjoy reading and we look forward to an awesome year of team building, new friendships, and a successful learning experi-

"Today's activities were about everyone working together. We all worked hard to make our classroom poster. We had fun."

"In today's activities I learned teamwork and what makes a good classmate. Teamwork is important because we help one another"

"Dear Student,

Hello there, welcome to Margaret Mace School. Here, we have some expectations on behavior and academics. You are expected to try and get good grades and to be nice and not bully your fellow peers."

"Dear Student,

We are happy you joined our class. We expect great behavior from you. It would be fantastic if you treated your classmates like your family!"

"I learned that working together and communicating gets things done quicker, easier, faster, and in a more fun way. In doing this we all got along with each other. Today was fun."

"Today I learned how to be a great classmate. We worked together as a team. We found out that it works better to work together then fighting."

"From the activities today, I learned we all need team work to help things work. It is easier with teamwork."
