Poetry Outloud Contest

By Hannah Wolf
pictures by Sam Windham

Poetry Outloud is a national competition sponsored by The National Endowment for the Arts. In Mrs. Griffin's, Mrs. Lawson's, and Mrs. Chadwell's English classes, students recited a poem of their choice and two students from each class were chosen to move on to the school finals. On Wednesday, November 24th, after weeks of practicing their individual poems, the finalists came together for one final performance, determining who would move on to compete in January at the regional competition in Charleston. This year's finalists included: Coya Darcangelo, Amani Huell, Margaret Stacy, Lees Williamson, Sydney Windham, Mac Atkinson, Raina Sternke, and Clayton Register. There was a tie for runner-up between Coya Darcangelo and Raina Sternke with Amani Huell taking first place.

Coya, Amani, and Raina

Congratulations to all who participated and good luck, Amani, in Charleston!

Clothing Drive

By Maddie Giarratano and Sam Windham, pictures by Jed Parreno

Goodwill is a clothing store that sells gently-used clothes, shoes, and much more. With the money they gain from selling their items, they are able to put disabled people to work. Every Monday, Mrs. Tester and her students go to Goodwill to volunteer by sorting and organizing clothes. From here on out, there will be a barrel located in the front of the school to drop off items for the store. Mrs. Tester and her students will deliver the items to the store each Monday.

Pictured Left: Anjli Grayson and Ryan Cribb with a barrel of clothes for Goodwill.

Please donate a NEW, UPWRAPPED toy to benefit the Marine Corps Toys For Tots Christmas Toy Drive. A box will be placed in the front office.

Last day to donate is Friday, December 12th.

Warriors of the Month

Congratulations to the following Warriors who were nominated as Warrior of the Month for October by either a peer or a faculty member.

Jasmine helps me in English when I didn't know what the story was about. She is really good at explaining things and doesn't mind helping me or our friends.

Jasmine Hazel

Hannah is always willing to lend a helping hand in class to not only the other students, but to her teacher as well. She works well with everyone in class and always remains patient and understanding with all skill levels.

Hannah Barker

Sarah organized the district rally and helped with Homecoming week. Sarah is always willing to help her school be a better place and she ALWAYS has a great attitude!

Sarah Ellerbe

Kareena did so much to make sure WHS had a wonderful Homecoming. She worked tirelessly on voting ballots and stayed after school to supervise counting. On the day of homecoming, she ran around getting glowers and helping her Student Council advisers get ready for the big night. She is a wonderful Warrior and cares about her school.

Kareena Patel

Larshaun reminds me of the reason why I do what I do. He is always energetic and happy. He is the reason we are here; he reminds me of the good that we can bring to education.

Larshaun Sessions

Aaron never asks questions or hesitates to help with the new TV system. He is a true gem, especially in yearbook as our new Graphic Design Editor.

Aaron Jordan

Hans has been really helpful in French class. He helps me with my homework and understanding the new vocabulary. He also cracks me up!

Hans Stoetzer

Kenzie and Amani TOGETHER have been doing an amazing job of setting an example for the incoming freshman in Competitive Speech class. They have prepared and cut their own performances but, in addition, they have coached the new kids relentlessly, meeting with them outside of school even to get them ready for the first tournament. In addition, both have recently organized team socials and fundraisers. I would be lost without them. They do this while taking AP loads and being involved in a ton of other activities. These two seniors are an inspiration!

Amani Huell and Kenzie Confer

Zach is a great assistant to both the students and to his teacher. He is always available to do whatever needs to be done to make everyone's life a little easier.

Coach White does it all: coaching, teaching, developing better ways for us to do things with all we have to do this year with websites, lesson plans, etc. Also, he has gone out of his way to help mentor people to use "technological devices" in our classrooms who are completely clueless.

Coach White

Hannah Phairas (not pictured) always helps me with my chemistry and is willing to help others too. She is kind and considerate.

On Tuesday, November 18th, the Waccamaw High School Band Concert performed in their first concert of the year. Students Volunteer At The Indigo Choral Society Concert

By Jed Parreno

On Monday and Tuesday, December 1st and 2nd, chorus students from the High School and Middle School and also members of Student Council volunteered to help the Indigo Choral Society's holiday concert at Holy Cross Faith Memorial Church. As in the past, the Indigo Choral Society makes donations to the American Cancer Society in exchange for our students serving as waiters and waitresses for the night. Those who volunteered helped set up tables, served tables, and cleaned after the concert. The concert was a success with the help of our amazing waiters and waitresses and also our leaders, Mrs. Gouldin, Mrs. Buzzell, and Senior Lindsay Jessmore, who helped direct the waiters and waitresses. Awesome job, Warriors!

College of Charleston Invitational Provides Education for Sailors

By Amy Jones; pictures courtesy of sailing parents

On Saturday and Sunday, November 15-16th, Waccamaw Sailing Club's Competitive team competed in 14 races at the second annual College of Charleston Invitational regatta. This event was designed to attract teams from outside the league and to provide training opportunities by allowing coaches on the water. The College of Charleston has a full fleet of Club 420's as well as FJ's (Flying J's), which enabled 14 teams from distances as far as Florida to Maryland to race both their A & B divisions simultaneously with staggered starts. Typically, in high school sailing A divisions and B divisions sail separately with a two-race rotation format. This format proved challenging for all sailing levels as there was one fleet charging the leeward mark through the start line just as another fleet attempted to start.

Container ships pose a consistent and intimidating presence in the Charleston Harbor. Waccamaw sailing in boat 11.

Griffin DesMarteau with main sheet & tiller in hand. Will Golden in crew position.

Saturday's conditions were variable with light winds that decreased and shifted to the point of having to move the course because of the lee area created by the YORKTOWN. Sunday's conditions were a chilly 48 degrees with a constant drizzle and 6-8 knot winds.

Six of Waccamaw's sailors competed on Saturday with junior Griffin DesMarteau, freshman Sydney Register, and sophomore Colt Woodhouse in skipper positions and freshman Ella Grace Bodie, junior Michael O'Tuel and senior Will Golden in crew. Sydney Register and Colt Woodhouse also served as crew throughout the regatta. On Sunday, the team was represented by only four sailors, which required all of them to be on the water together for the remaining 5 races. DesMarteau (skipper) and Bodie (crew) sailed in A division and Register (skipper) and Woodhouse (crew) sailed B division.

The team finished 11th overall, with 257 points (131 points in A/126 points in B). The team sailed consistently better throughout the regatta climbing 2 places from Saturday in an extremely competitive fleet.

To all Waccamaw Football Players, Coaches, and Parents

The annual Football Awards Banquet will be held at the Waccamaw High School cafeteria on December 11th at 6:00pm.

There will be a $5 admission fee per person (not players) to help offset the cost of the food for the banquet.

We encourage all to attend and support the wonderful efforts of our football teams.

Hawg Hunters take First Place!

By Karl Strittmatter, pictures courtesy of Coach Matthews

On Saturday, November 22nd, the Waccamaw Hawg Hunters Fishing Team won the Waccamaw Hawg Hunter's Fall Challenge in Georgetown. Team members Jake Tester and Collin Newton took home first place, battling the elements and fishing well in the cold weather. Collin missed out on a four pounder, but this did not stop the duo as they continued to fish and reeled in several more bass to bring home the first place trophy. Jake brought in the majority of the fish, as he reeled in seven bass and Collin reeled in two.

Congratulations Jake and Collin!
