The Ultimate Learning Experience

By Jamie McNair and Matt Lee, Pictures by Matt Lee

On Tuesday, April 8th, Waccamaw juniors and seniors had their annual prom assembly. This year's speaker was author, counselor, and motivational speaker Chris Skinner, who resides in Myrtle Beach. Skinner presented his message, "The Ultimate Learning Experience," sharing how his bad choices ultimately affected his life leaving him paralyzed in a wheelchair.

Chris Skinner has been a quadriplegic, paralyzed from the collarbone down, since he was 20 years old. He lives his life in a wheelchair because he made several bad decisions at a wedding reception. He promised his friend that he was not going to drink, but he did; he got in a vehicle with a drunk driver, and took his seatbelt off. Skinner and his friends were traveling a mere two miles to another party when his friend lost control of the car going around a turn too fast, flipping the vehicle two and a half times. He was ejected from the car, landed in a ditch, and broke his neck. As a result of his poor decisions that night, Chris Skinner's life was changed in the time it would take to snap your fingers. Now he depends solely on others for his survival because he is unable to do any of the things that people see as second nature.

Skinner started the assembly with a story about how he had to move away from his home in the Outerbanks of North Carolina to the industrial city of Franklin, Virginia, where the stench of the nearby paper mill permeated the town. Skinner had promised himself that he would never get used to the smell, but he did. He had become numb to the smell and he used the smell as a metaphor of how young people become numb to the consequences of drugs and alcohol and live with the thought, "It can't happen to me, right?"

Skinner told the audience, "Don't take what you have for granted." He emphasized that everything that he had before his accident, everything that most people have, is a privilege. The ability to hold your hands in the air and wiggle your fingers, the ability to get yourself out of bed without help, the ability to walk; these are all privileges that can be taken away in an instant. "Make good decisions, and be thankful for each day that you are alive and well," he said. He encouraged everyone who is attending prom this weekend to have fun and reminded them that bad decisions have consequences and these things CAN happen to you.

As a sidebar to Mr. Skinner's speech, he brought with him Mr. Kaplan, a member of Canine Angels, who trains rescued shelter dogs to become licensed service dogs. He spoke about how important service dogs are to their owners, such as Skinner, and how they become a central part of their lives. Service dogs can be trained to assist their owners in many ways, by leading the blind, helping people with their daily routines, providing emotional support, and much more. Two veterans accompanied Mr. Kaplan with their service dogs as examples of the services they provide.

When asked how he felt about the assembly, junior Richard Rasheed said, "Mr. Skinner's speech was especially inspirational while reminding us of the dangers that we seem to forget about day after day."

WHS CHORUS GOES TO CAROWINDS

Written by Ms. Warr, Choral Teacher

The Waccamaw Chorus participated in the Carowinds Music Festival this past weekend and brought home a plaque with an 'EXCELLENT' rating. The students sang two pieces, "Come To Me, O My Love" by Allan Petker and "Kyrie from Memorial" by Rene Clausen. The judges had raving reviews about the ensembles poise and technique and gave valuable feedback to both the chorus and director.

Twenty-nine students departed Friday morning with Sandra Smalls at the wheel. After stopping for a Grouchos picnic lunch, the group arrived in Pineville on time and ready to enjoy dinner at Olive Garden and an evening of bowling and laser tag. After a good night's sleep, the students were ready for Carowinds fun; it was a gorgeous day of sunshine and students rode rides until they were exhausted. Despite the effects of many screams prior to singing, students totally brought it to the table when they sang for the judges.

We are very thankful for the parent and teacher support on this trip, eleven adults in attendance, and so glad to know that we arrived home safely with Mr. Bethea in tow. Thank you teachers, administration, parents and students for supporting this and all Chorus events at Waccamaw.

CLOUD 9

By Jed Parreno

From March 24th to 27th, Mrs. Kemp's Geometry classes built kites to coincide with their chapter on transformation and symmetry. Each of the classes got into groups of three and designed and built their own kites. The kite theme was "faces" and many students designed their kites based off of characters from movies, TV shows, and video games. Throughout the week, the kites were judged by teachers on their appearance. The highest scoring kite was "The Tiger" which was made by sophomores Jed Parreno and Logan Mincey, and freshman Carson Hall. On Friday, March 28th, the classes took their kites to the sky; Mrs. Kemp thought it was a great day to fly kites because of the windy weather. Some kites flew successfully high while others crashed. The students had a lot of fun and the kite project was a great success.

Marching Warriors Take Orlando

By Hannah Wolf, Pictures by Mr. Raymond Elling

On Thursday, April 3rd, the WHS Marching Warriors departed at 11pm for their second annual trip to Universal Studios in Orlando, Florida. The parents and siblings of the marchers were allowed to come along as well; two charter buses full of band students, chaperones, and family members embarked on the 8-hour drive.

After driving all night, the marching band arrived at their destination. Once everyone got settled in their hotel rooms they then headed to Islands of Adventure; this park contains: The Wizarding World of Harry Potter, Jurassic Park, The Hulk, and many other movie-themed rides. At around 5pm, everyone returned to the hotel to spend a much-needed relaxing night by the pool.

On Saturday, students were given the option of either going to ride the Harry Potter ride at 7:30am or going straight to the Universal Studios park at 8:30am. At 1pm, the marching band was given the chance to participate in a behind-the-scenes sound workshop in a "top-secret" section of Universal Studios. The musicians recorded music from Frankenstein 1910 and also created different sound effects with a little help from the color guard and their creative voice-overs. With the help of producers, directors, and technical geniuses, the band created their own scene from the film; their music was played in the background of the silent film and the color guard's voice-overs were strategically placed in the video to add a humorous effect. After spending time in the workshop, the band drove to the site of the Universal Studios Mardi Gras Parade and got ready for their last performance of the season. The marching band played "Soul Finger" throughout the park while the color guard followed performing an original routine. The parade was a huge success and everyone was very proud of their final performance. After changing out of their uniforms, the students returned to the Universal Studios park for several more hours before going back to the hotel for the night.

On Sunday, the last day in Orlando, everyone was allowed to switch between the two parks throughout the day. Everyone returned to the hotel at 6pm and spent the rest of the night by the pool where The Lorax was being projected on to a big sheet.

At 7:15am Monday morning, everyone loaded the buses and began the drive back to Waccamaw High School. The buses arrived in Pawleys Island at 5pm after a long, exhausting day of driving. Thanks to the hard work of the marchers during the season, the dedicated instructors, and the band boosters, the Marching Warriors ended another successful trip to Orlando, Florida where the senior students marched with their band family for the very last time. Congratulations on a great season and an amazing parade performance in Universal!

GIRLS LACROSSE SEASON ENDS

By Jamie McNair, Pictures by Matt Lee

On Thursday, April 3rd, the Waccamaw girls' lacrosse team played Ashley Hall at Stables Park. The team played hard but took a loss 3-15. On April 5th, the girls lacrosse team traveled to West Ashley to play their last game of the season. The Warriors lost 4-15.

Coached by Ms. Maxon, this was the first season for the Waccamaw girls' lacrosse team. They quickly learned that girls lacrosse is different from the boys lacrosse. In girls' lacrosse there is limited contact with other players so the players don't wear pads or helmets, and their sticks have less of a pocket which makes it more difficult to catch the ball, but easier to throw the ball faster. Ms. Maxon spent the season teaching the girls basic lacrosse skills and the logistics of the game. She, too, had played lacrosse in high school. Coach Maxon commented, "I am so glad I coached the girls lacrosse team this year. The girls were great and I'm very proud of them." With some experience under their belt, girls lacrosse will start next season with a better understanding of the sport. Way to go, ladies!
