

It's been a great week at BJH. Time is flying...today is the last day of the 1st Six Weeks. We will have report cards out by next Thursday, so please be looking for those. As always you can use our Parent Portal system for updates on your child's grades. If you have any trouble accessing this please let us know.

We would like to remind you that if you plan on attending field trips with your child this year, you will need to come to the front office to complete a background check.

Reminder....we will have our BISD Lock Down Drill next week. Feel free to talk to your child about this and if you have any questions please contact us.

Next week is our annual Passionately Pink Week sponsored by our BJH Student Council. This is held in order to raise awareness for cancer. Please encourage your child to participate.
