SADD is the national leader in teen traffic safety education and awareness. For the last 34 years, SADD's programs, awareness campaigns, and advocacy efforts have been primarily focused on reducing the number of teens injured and killed behind the wheel. However, our work will never be complete. Each year, we have a new group of young drivers behind the wheel who require education programming, awareness campaigns, and a full community effort to help them stay safe when they get behind the wheel. Our traffic safety efforts are focused on three main areas:Distracted Driving, Impaired Driving and Seat Belts
