

Photos courtesy of Raven Favor

Royal Live Oaks students help get the signs in place and ready for bracket installation.

Students help assemble street signs

Royal Live Oaks, city staff prep for summer installation

HARDEVILLE TODAY

The city of Hardeeville teamed up May 30 with Royal Live Oaks Academy to assemble recently purchased street signs for downtown.

Ninth-grade students and city staff put together about 80 signs in 45 minutes.

Downtown development manager Chris Damgen began working on the intersection sign project in January as requested by City Council, which approved the signs at its April 3 meeting.

"Installing these signs will help extend the message that the city is serious about

Courtesy of Raven Favor

Downtown development manager Chris Damgen demonstrates

Signs

FROM PAGE 1

its branding and its visual appearance," Damgen said. "It will create a unified look throughout all intersections downtown that will help Hardeeville become a better destination."

Twenty-seven students, four teachers and 11 city staff and board members helped with the assembly. The Hardeeville public works staff assisted with getting the truck loaded and unloaded.

The new signs resemble a typical 1920s intersection

Courtesy of Raven Favor

Royal Live Oaks students help get the signs in place and ready for bracket installation.

style. They are set at standard reflective engineering grade, making them easier to see at night. Hardeeville plans to install them throughout the summer.

Ninth-grade students from Royal Live Oaks assisted city staff in assembling the new street signs for downtown Hardeeville.