NICK CARTER, SUPERINTENDENT
JAYME KNOCHER, ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT

Another exciting and incredible school year in the school district is set to begin, and I want to thank the Breckinridge County community for supporting us. Communication is vitally important to us in the school district. Please never hesitate to call on us if you have questions, concerns, and/or suggestions about the learning opportunities in our district. Always know that your input is greatly important to us.

Staying Focused

Life in the 21st century is busier than ever before for the majority of people. We start our days busy and many times, finish our days that way. Our work in the Breckinridge County School District is no different. Our hard working teachers balance their personal responsibilities with the tremendous responsibility of educating the children living in our great county. We realize that our Breckinridge County parents have the same challenge of balancing their family and work responsibilities. We in the Breckinridge County School District will use the word "focus" as a calling this year to keep our eyes on the prize (student opportunity and achievement). Everything that we do in the Breckinridge County School District should and will be about children. Ensuring that our Breckinridge County children receive tremendous educational opportunities in a positive and safe environment is and always will be our top priority. As another school year begins, I would like to encourage everyone to remain focused on what really matters...our children.
