

My name is Glenn Robbins and I am the new superintendent of the Brigantine Public School District. Although I have only been in the district since the 1st of this month, I have been fortunate to meet so many outstanding students, parents, staff members and stakeholders who care very deeply about our district.

Over the course of my educational career in New Jersey, I have served as a superintendent in Tabernacle, a principal in Northfield, and as a teacher, coach and assistant principal in Egg Harbor Township. I am also recognized as one of three New Jersey representatives for the AASA National Governing Board, a former NASSP National Digital Principal of the Year, the co-chair for the NJASA Technology Committee for all administrators in New Jersey, and have received numerous state and national leadership distinctions during my career. I am most proud of having the opportunity to serve as the superintendent in the Brigantine Public School District.

I plan to continue the programming in place and to develop new initiatives to serve our children and community. I look forward to seeing our children grow not just academically and athletically, but also socially and emotionally. It is also a priority to maintain a safe and healthy school environment for all of our students and staff. Your support of our children and staff is vital to the growth of each and every child.

Please continue to be involved through our PTA, volunteering opportunities, and communication with your child's teachers. As always, the year promises to bring wonderful educational opportunities for the children of our community of which our entire staff is fortunate to be a part of.

Thanks again for welcoming me into the Brigantine family.

Sincerely,

Glenn Robbins
