

What is the International Schools of China?

For more than 25 years, the International Schools of China (ISC) has taught children of expatriates working for multi-national companies located in China. All of our students are taught using an American educational curriculum that provides a solid foundation based on truth and values-based worldviews. Our six schools across China serve more than 1,700 students from Pre-Kindergarten through 12th grade each year.

What is the need?

We are excited to report that ISC is continuing to experience consistent growth throughout our organization, providing us the opportunity to serve more and more families across China. But with such consistent growth comes a significant, on-going need. To fully support newly enrolled children we need to hire a number of additional teachers and staff for the 2015/2016 school year.
