INSTRUCTIONAL SUPPORT TOOLS

FOR ACHIEVING NEW STANDARDS

English/Language Arts • Unpacked Content

For the new Common Core State Standards that will be effective in all North Carolina schools in the 2012-13 school year

This document is designed to help North Carolina educators teach the ELA Common Core State Standards.

NCDPI staff are continually updating and improving these tools to better serve teachers.

What is the purpose of this document?

To increase student achievement by ensuring educators understand specifically what the new standards mean a student must know, understand and be able to do.

What is in the document?

Descriptions of what each standard means a student will know, understand and be able to do. The “unpacking” of the standards done in this document is an effort to answer a simple question “What does this standard mean that a student must know and be able to do?” and to ensure the description is helpful, specific and comprehensive for educators.

How do I send Feedback?

We intend the explanations and examples in this document to be helpful and specific. That said, we believe that as this document is used, teachers and educators will find ways in which the unpacking can be improved and made ever more useful. Please send feedback to us at feedback@dpi.state.nc.us and we will use your input to refine our unpacking of the standards. Thank You!

Just want the standards alone?

You can find the standards alone at <http://www.corestandards.org>

Key Ideas and Details
1. Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.	1. Ask and answer questions about key details in a text.	First grade students continue to build on the skill of asking and answering questions about key details in a text. At this level, students use key details to retell stories in their own words, reveal an understanding about the central message of the text, and tell about the story elements. Use questions and prompts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Can you tell me what happened in the story at the beginning? What happened after that? What happened at the end of the story?</li> <li>• Can you tell me where the story took place?</li> <li>• Can you tell me the important things that happened in the story?</li> <li>• Who are the characters in the story? What do you know about them?</li> </ul>
2. Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas.	2. Retell stories, including key details, and demonstrate understanding of their central message or lesson.
3. Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.	3. Describe characters, settings, and major events in a story, using key details.

Craft and Structure
4. Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.	4. Identify words and phrases in stories or poems that suggest feelings or appeal to the senses.	First grade students begin to look at how words are used in a text by naming words and phrases that contribute to the feeling of the poem or story. They should understand the difference between books that tell stories and books that provide information. First grade students should be able to name who is telling the story. Use questions and prompts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Can you find the feeling words in this poem/story?</li> <li>• Is this book an informational book or a story book? What in the text leads you to that answer?</li> <li>• Who is telling the story in this part of the book?</li> </ul>
5. Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.	5. Explain major differences between books that tell stories and books that give information, drawing on a wide reading of a range of text types.
6. Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.	6. Identify who is telling the story at various points in a text.

Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
7. Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse media and formats, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words. <sup>1</sup>	7. Use illustrations and details in a story to describe its characters, setting, or events.	Students are required to use pictures and details in a story to tell about characters, setting, and events. They continue to build on character development by looking at similarities and differences in characters' experiences in stories. Use questions and prompts such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Can you find an illustration or part that shows the main character?</li> <li>• Can you find an illustration or part that shows the setting?</li> <li>• Can you find an illustration or part that shows the problem in the story?</li> <li>• What is the same about the characters in the two stories? What is different?</li> <li>• What happened to the characters that is the same? What is different?</li> <li>• Did the characters solve the problem in different ways? If so, how?</li> </ul>
8. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.	8. (Not applicable to literature)
9. Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.	9. Compare and contrast the adventures and experiences of characters in stories.

Ask and answer questions to help determine or clarify the meaning of words and phrases in a text.	First grade students should use the skill of asking and answering questions to help them understand what words and phrases mean in the text. Students at this level should understand how to use text features to help them understand the text and be able to tell the difference between what information can be gained by examining the pictures and what can be gained from examining the words. Production and Distribution of Writing
4. Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.	4. (Begins in grade 3)	With assistance from adults and peers, students should focus their writing on a topic and be able to respond to questions and suggestions. In order to do so, students need to understand how to add descriptive words to their writing to strengthen their piece. They also need to develop the ability to recognize spelling, grammar, and punctuation errors and have strategies for correcting these errors with assistance (during conferences and peer editing). With assistance, students will use digital tools to publish their writing independently and in collaboration with peers (use of keyboarding and technology). At this grade level, students will need to be able to “log on” to programs, computer stations, and hand-held devices to engage with digital media.
5. Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.	5. With guidance and support from adults, focus on a topic, respond to questions and suggestions from peers, and add details to strengthen writing as needed.
6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writing and to interact and collaborate with others.	6. With guidance and support from adults, use a variety of digital tools to produce and publish writing, including in collaboration with peers.

Research to Build and Present Knowledge
7. Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects based on focused questions, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.	7. Participate in shared research and writing projects (e.g., explore a number of “how-to” books on a given topic and use them to write a sequence of instructions).	First grade students are required to participate in shared research projects. Students will need to understand their role (job on the team) and how they will contribute (work they will do) to the project from beginning to end. Items, such as, task charts, check sheets, and graphic organizers will be helpful to students as they learn to work together.  At this level, students are working with provided research. They need to know how to scan the information provided (words, pictures, digital sources) and/or recall from their own background knowledge the pieces they need to answer research questions and take notes. Students do this work with prompting and support.
8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assess the credibility and accuracy of each source, and integrate the information while avoiding plagiarism.	8. With guidance and support from adults, recall information from experiences or gather information from provided sources to answer a question.
9. Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.	9. (Begins in grade 4)

Build on others' talk in conversations by responding to the comments of others through multiple exchanges.</li> <li>c. Ask questions to clear up any confusion about the topics and texts under discussion.</li> </ol>	Students in first grade will engage in conversations about grade-appropriate topics and texts. In order to do so, students will need ample opportunities to take part in a variety of rich, structured conversations. Students actively engage as part of a whole class, in small groups, and with a partner, sharing the roles of participant, leader, and observer. Students at this level should engage in collaborative conversations (such as book groups, literature circles, buddy reading), and develop skills in active (close) listening and group discussion (looking at the speaker, turn taking, linking ideas to the speakers' idea, sharing the floor, etc.). First grade students will also ask and answer questions about key details of a text read aloud or information presented in multiple formats. First grade students should also be able to listen carefully to a text read aloud and to recount or describe details about what they heard. Students need to ask questions and understand and answer questions asked of them, in order to clarify or gain more information.
2. Integrate and evaluate information presented in diverse media and formats, including visually, quantitatively, and orally.	2. Ask and answer questions about key details in a text read aloud or information presented orally or through other media.

This should be done orally, with some detail, and with clarity of thought and emotions. They should be able to add visual displays to illuminate chosen facts or details. In order to do so, students will need multiple opportunities to present information to others and develop behaviors that will lead to the ability to add appropriate visual displays. Students will need to engage in behaviors (turn and talk, small group discussion, and listening and speaking learning centers) that lead to the expression of complete ideas both verbally and in writing.
