

LAW SCHOOL is an action packed legal thriller, a murder mystery blended with a coming of age story about young Seth Sentel, a gifted, -yet naïve - -first year law student, and it's all set in and around a Southern law school. What's a nice, honest guy like Seth doing in law school? Well, he doesn't know either.

It's an Old Southern University campus, and Seth senses that something about his law school just ain't right. Something there- -other than him- -feels out of place. Then, two students are murdered. Then two more - -both good friends of his- -are shot in a hunting accident, or are they? The local authorities have it all wrong: wrong suspect, wrong crime. Seth's not sure what to do, not sure who to blame, not sure who to trust, not even sure who he is. Nonetheless, he's driven by loyalty to find out who murdered his friends. Seth is untested; so, he gets scared. He's naïve; so, he gets fooled. Will he get justice? Or will he cut and run? Maybe he'll be himself, and start seeing what's real- -and what's not.

LAW SCHOOL is all about mystery, all about action, all about law school, and all about growing up fast. It's also all about how some things- -just ain't what they seem.
