

John 10:10 "I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly."

Before I was the age of 10, I had 4 kids, a mortgage, went to night school, and changed careers so that I could win at Life. Now if you didn't know that Life is an actual board game that families have played since 1860 (yes, 1860 – I didn't know that until a recent Google expedition either), you would probably be suspect of your pastor's upbringing. I am referring to the board game and I imagine at some point in your life, you've played it with your family. The goal of the game is simple: make decisions in life that allow you to amass as much wealth as possible so that you can finally retire.

That life and that goal was no big deal when I was a kid, but too be honest, that understanding of life's goals kind of irk me now that I started playing the board game with my kids. Is that really the goal that I think of when it comes to playing life...for real? Now its just a board game and it's in good fun (so, we'll probably still play the app together), but is this the actual goal for life I want to communicate to my kids...or yours? Our ministry team certainly thought that Life in Christ is more important than just getting stuff and retiring. So why settle for that perspective when Jesus has so much more in store?

Let's be honest, we can't win at life anyway, because of the life that Christ lived and the death that He died – He's already won the game of eternal life for us. There is a winner – Christ and by association, us – and there is a loser – Satan. Now that we've been given the victory He's won – how should our life look? It can't still be focused on getting stuff or just occupying time until we retire. That actually sounds like a pretty shallow life and a weak goal. Besides, we can't retire from Christianity anyway. It's just not the objective of the game anymore. So, if we're not just looking to our stuff or status in life now, what should we focus on?

Together through the month of November Pastor Jeff, Pastor Seth, and the congregation are going to be playing the game of L.I.F.E the right way – with the right goals. Playing the game of L.I.F.E is a Biblically based acronym that will move our game pieces away from our stuff and our status and onto our true focus living life under Christ in four different ways:

- Nov. 4: Legacy
- Nov. 11: In-Service
- Nov. 18: Forward
- Nov. 25: Eternity

In other words: L.I.F.E. On Nov. 25, you'll be given your own game of L.I.F.E gameboard so that you can live a life full of Christ's work with suggestions that will keep you growing in Christ and His life for you. Besides, Jesus didn't say that you would be rich with things, but He did say that He has come "that they may have life and have it to the full." So why don't you take another step toward that full life on the gameboard: invite someone to hear this thought-provoking series teaching us about L.I.F.E in Christ.

Sermon Series Nov. 4-25

The GAME of

L I F E

John 10:10 "I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly."

The Game of Life boardgame has a simple goal: make decisions in life that allow you to amass as much wealth as possible so that you can finally retire. However, in real life, isn't life more than just making money, gaining toys, and then retiring? You better believe Jesus has something more meaningful than that shallow existence! In John 10:10, Jesus says that He came to give us a full life. In this November sermon series, let's see God move our pieces forward on the gameboard of L.I.F.E in Christ as we focus on what should fill our lives: Legacy, In-Service, Forward, and Eternity.

Connections Update

Every Sunday you arrive at church what do you notice first? Is it the smiling greeters ready to welcome you and shake your hand? Is it the elder saying, "Good morning" and handing you your bulletin? Maybe you see your friends socializing in the cafeteria or narthex anxious to say hello to those they have come to know so well at DR.

Then you walk into either the gym for contemporary service or the sanctuary for traditional service. The ushers are guiding you, there may be a baptism being performed by the pastor, children may be singing, a praise team might be playing your favorite song, or the bell choir may be wowing you with their talents. Everywhere you turn there are numerous ways our family at Divine Redeemer are helping to make yet another worship successful by providing an opportunity for you to glorify our Lord and Savior.

Have you ever thought, though, about how many people behind the scenes make this worship service happen and how important they are as well? With our A/V volunteers we are able to see slides of announcements, lyrics to songs, words to prayers and the occasional video to enhance the sermon. Mics are turned on and off at just the right moment. Buttons are pushed to be able to record sermons for those who are unable to attend listen in the convenience of their home. Believe it or not a person is up there pushing a button each time the slide on the screen changes! Could we do without these elements and still worship? Absolutely. Would it be as good, as meaningful and as high of quality without them? Not at all.

What about communion and the changes you see to the altar? This requires another group of servants of Divine Redeemer, the Altar Guild. They are a group of women dedicated to taking responsibility for the preparation of the sanctuary for the preaching of the Word and the administration of the Sacraments. One team each week comes to prepare for communion either in the gym or the church. Enough wine cups are filled, and hosts set out for all the members they anticipate will be partaking of the Lord's Supper. Additionally, they fill the candles with oil, change altar linens, clean linens, set out baptismal supplies and on and on. These are just a sample of what they do but what the women all have in common is the desire to be such an important part of worship in a fashion that is behind the scenes on a weekly basis.

Lastly, you probably think of those bulletins, inserts, cards, and fliers as just being printed and presented to the church on Sunday mornings. However, this brings up a final set of servants helping Divine Redeemer worship on a weekly basis. We have the same three women come in every single Wednesday to prepare these important elements of worship. Everything is printed and stacked waiting for their arrival in the late morning of each Wednesday. These awesome ladies dedicate their time to the folding, sorting and stuffing of each piece of paper you receive each week.

This November 11 during Fellowship Hour in the School Lobby we will take time to thank these wonderful servants at DR. Come by, say thank you to these behind the worship scenes servants and maybe even think about how you could help behind the scenes!

PRIDE written by youth alumni Daniel Bronner

Pride is a topic that's not as often discussed among Christians, since many view it as being relatively harmless. In reality, it's one of the most insidious of sins, for the aforementioned reason, as well as the countless problems that come with it as mentioned in the Bible. Pride is a sin that can manifest itself when everything seems to be going well. It was because of pride that Satan fell from his position in heaven. Proverbs 18:12 says, "Before destruction a man's heart is haughty, but humility comes before honor" (ESV). In Philippians 2:3 we are told, "Do nothing from rivalry or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves" (ESV). Besides these, countless other verses exist which tell of the dangers of pride and the blessings that humility can bring. In my own life, I find myself struggling with pride a good deal. From all the blessings that God pours out on me, it can become easy to start thinking of myself more highly than I should. It's important for me to remember that I didn't "earn" any of the talents God gave me, but rather, I received them as gifts. In 1 Peter 5:6-7, we are commanded, "Humble yourselves, therefore, under the mighty hand of God so that at the proper time he may exalt you, casting all your anxieties on him, because he cares for you" (ESV). My pride can come in the way of God's plan when I don't want to "humble myself" and obey his will. It's natural for us to want to be in control of every aspect of our lives - giving God the reins and trusting in Him ultimately takes a lot of humility. The moral of the story (literally) is that we should not become ensnared in pride or arrogance. By praying for humility and giving thanks to God, we can live in a way that points to Jesus, the One who truly deserves our praise.

Operation Christmas Child Update

Operation Christmas Child is just around the corner and we are looking for help organizing items on Friday, November 16 from 3-9 PM for the packing party event the next day (Saturday, November 17). Because Divine Redeemer is not a collection site this year and we will not have a semi truck to load on site, whatever shoeboxes we pack will have to be packed into larger cartons to be transported to Crosspoint Church. We will need help with trailers and strong men to take the cartons over to Crosspoint after the packing party Saturday night, November 17. Left over items from the packing party will also need to be taken to the storage unit. Please give Terry a call and let her know what you would be interested in helping with. A sign-up genius will be coming out soon for volunteering. So please check the bulletin and your emails for future updates. Dear Diary

A quote regarding the passing of time once read... "Time is not measured by the passing of years but by what one does, what one feels, and what one achieves." At this time of year, it is amazing to look back and to see that the school has seen the end of a quarter already and the students have accomplished a lot. A few of the very successful first quarter school activities have included the "Kids for Kids" campaign that will donate nearly a hundred goats to families in Haiti, the "Mission to Mars" challenge that has seen a $4000 matching gift and a tremendous number of donations, an amazing school musical- "Seussical the Musical, Jr.", great plans in place for this year's Divine Redeemer Auction, another incredible turn-out for Grandparent's Day 2018, and so much more!

Please mark your calendars with these specific November school events:

- Thursday & Friday, November 1 & 2

New Teacher Feature: Mrs. Jeni Zimmer- Resource Teacher

It is a common response that teachers give when asked what inspired them to become a teacher. Divine Redeemer Lutheran School's new Resource Teacher had the exact response. Mrs. Jeni Zimmer had many role models in the great teachers she had in her life. In addition to these, Jeni's father influenced her greatly to become a teacher. Because of this inspiration, she obtained her education degree from St. John's College in Winfield, Kansas and Concordia University- Chicago. Once out of college, Mrs. Zimmer taught at four other schools before coming to Divine Redeemer. She taught preschool, kindergarten, second grade, fourth grade, fifth grade and even middle school art. The schools she taught at included Lutheran schools in Nebraska, Illinois and Minnesota! Teaching runs in the Zimmer family as Jeni's husband, Mike, teaches theology at Martin Luther High School and daughters Stephanie and Amanda teach at Immanuel Brookfield and Grace Lutheran School- Menomonee Falls, respectively. They live in the Sussex area and have three children and six grandchildren. Mrs. Zimmer's role as Resource Teacher at Divine Redeemer has her assisting the classroom teachers by diversifying the curriculums for students that need to be challenged or need assistance with their school subjects. As Jeni looks ahead at the school year before her, she is most excited about building relationships with students and their families that reflect the love of Jesus. She is already involved with Divine Redeemer's Women's Ministry and enjoys the Monday night "Girlfriends for God" Bible Study. If you can catch her moving about the school hallways, please introduce yourself and welcome her to Divine Redeemer Lutheran School. Mrs. Zimmer is truly another great resource for our DR families and their children!

The Sky's the Limit with the School's "Mission to Mars" Campaign

Everyone knows that technology changes from day-to-day! This includes the technology and tools used in Divine Redeemer Lutheran School's computer lab. Computer labs filled with personal computers has since become out-dated. Divine Redeemer is for the first time ever bringing its technology, products, and computer classes right into the classrooms! Such an ambitious undertaking requires licensing, new laptops, a mobile cart and tech tools to make this a successful transition. The "Mission to Mars" Campaign has been established to help purchase these necessary items and to bring Divine Redeemer Lutheran School to the forefront of technology in the classroom! The campaign was attempting to raise $21,000.00 towards this initiative and a very generous $4000.00 matching gift was anonymously given! This year's annual Divine Redeemer Lutheran Church and School Apple Pie Fundraiser will also help support this campaign as will Divine Redeemer's Auction in February.

If you are interested in donating towards this very important campaign, please contact or submit a check (with "laptops" on the memo line) directly to the school office. Call 262-367-3664 with any questions! All donations are tax deductible!
