

Partnerships to Improve Learning

When technology works together, teachers and students thrive! For more than ten years, Classworks has been the industry leader in connected learning. We are committed to working with the technologies you're using in your school or district. From nationally-recognized assessments to rostering and Learning Management systems, Classworks plays well with the programs you're using.

“Classworks is the one intervention that was a non-negotiable... The teachers... really like the program and the fact that it is directly correlated to Renaissance Star which ultimately helps to improve results for each of their student learning objectives, regardless of where they are, based on grade level!

Wilsey Hamilton
Principal
Colleton County School District

“There are many instructional resources to support RTI, but often they only address one or two components. Having to purchase and train on multiple programs is expensive and time consuming. Classworks is the all-in-one resource we needed. Now my teachers have the data to identify which students need support, the instruction automatically individualized, and progress monitoring to ensure that the intervention is working.

Dr. Manika Kemp
Federal Programs Director
Clarksdale Municipal School District

A Partner, Not Just a Product

Selecting the right intervention resource is only step one. Our team of education and technology experts works side-by-side with you to build buy-in, create implementation champions, and help you achieve your program objectives. The result? More teacher capacity. More student growth.

- ✓ Flexible professional learning options to meet your needs
- ✓ Special Education planning and implementation
- ✓ Customized Response-to Intervention implementations
- ✓ Dedicated Curriculum and Instruction Specialists

How it Works

Classworks connects every student's assessment data with individualized instruction. Students work on lessons focused on the skills and standards they are ready to learn. Teachers have the peace-of-mind that students are working on relevant instruction.

Whether students need to address a few gaps on grade-level or several grade-levels below, Classworks can help students quickly work their way to grade-level proficiency.
