Description	Unlike summative assessments that are used after instruction, formative assessment is used throughout learning to check for student understanding and adjust instruction accordingly. Formative assessments can be informal – such as a thumbs up / thumbs down responses-or more structured, such as a written pre-test. Formative assessments can also be low-tech or use one of the many technology tools available. In this course, participants will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Learn formative assessment strategies that can be easily embedded into existing lessons.</li> <li>• Explore a variety of tech tools and how to use them for formative assessment.</li> <li>• Create or refine lessons to include more formative assessment.</li> </ul> Participants are encouraged to bring curriculum materials or lesson plans for one course as well as a laptop.
