

Knob Noster Public Schools Selects Randy Johnson as New AFJROTC Aerospace Science Instructor

Knob Noster Public Schools has selected retired Air Force Senior Master Sergeant Randy Johnson to serve as Knob Noster High School AFJROTC Aerospace Science Instructor for the 2017-2018 school year.

Sergeant Johnson graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration from Trident University and has recently completed his Master's Degree in Human Resources Development from Webster University. Johnson has served as an AFJROTC instructor in the Lee's Summit School District for the past four years after retiring from 24 years of service in the United States Air Force, during which time he was stationed at Whiteman Air Force Base.

Sergeant Johnson's experiences have developed within him a unique interpersonal skillset to include empathy, understanding, and a caring attitude about students' overall welfare and development. He comes with the commitment and dedication it takes to develop strong relationships with students.

Johnson lives in and has been an active member of the Knob Noster community with his wife of 20 years, Robyn, and two sons. His oldest son, Jarod, graduated from Knob Noster High School last year and his youngest son, Duke, is currently a freshman at KNHS. Sergeant Johnson has also served on the Knob Noster R-VIII School Board.

Johnson states, "I'm excited at the opportunity to be back home and continue a legacy of professionalism and traditions of the Knob Noster AFJROTC."
