

With the adoption of new textbooks in social studies, some CTE, and foreign language classes, the following textbook professional development sessions have been scheduled for our system. While this does not count as one of the required inservice days (unless your principal allows you to use it as the summer day they require), attendance will give you PDP points you can upload as well as help increase your professionalism rubric score. If you are attending and would be willing to be in charge picking up the sign in sheets and returning them to the BOE, please let me know.

As of now, the sessions that have been requested and scheduled are:
