NATIONAL ASSESSMENT FOR EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS (NAEP)

The National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) produces The Nation's Report Card and is considered the gold standard for large-scale assessment. It is the largest nationally representative assessment of what U.S. students know and can do in key subjects, which allows Tennesseans to see how our students are performing compared to peers in other states. NAEP assessments began in 1969 and are sponsored by the U.S. Department of Education. They are conducted periodically in reading, math, science, writing, U.S. history, civics, geography, and other subjects.

Required

Yes, by the State of Tennessee

Applicable Federal/State Law

Administered in accordance with Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) of 2015, which requires the state to participate in the biennial state academic assessments of fourth and eighth grade reading and mathematics.

Purpose and Use

Only a small sample of Tennessee fourth and eighth graders will take this test. This test, often called the nation's report card, measures Tennessee's academic achievement against other states also taking this test.

Administration Window

January 29 - March 9, 2018

Mountain View Elementary School: February 22, 2018 – Grade: 8th – Subjects: Civics, Geography, and U.S. History

Length of Assessment

Results to Parents and Students

NAEP is not designed to show individual results. Since the first NAEP assessment in 1969, students' names have been kept completely confidential. After students complete the assessment, their names are physically removed from the booklets and never leave their schools. Instead of reporting individual scores, NAEP reports overall results for the nation, the states, and for demographic groups of students.
