In accordance with Section III (Parents Rights to Know) of the No Child Left Behind Law, any person having inquiries about teacher qualifications, school status, or student state assessment results should contact the Superintendent of Education. The parent reserves the right to request in writing that a student's name, photo, or other information be removed or withheld from public distribution to include but not limited to: newsletters, yearbooks, promotional information, military recruiters or student directories, etc. Written request should be submitted to the principal's office and must be renewed each school year. Under the Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, parents have the right to inspect and review their child's educational records.
