

SOCIAL STUDIES

The North Carolina Social Studies Essential Standards offer a sound, thoughtful, and defensible curricular framework that is designed to enable all students at all grade levels to acquire the essential knowledge, understanding, and skills needed to be informed, active citizens in the 21st century. The five organizational strands of the social studies program: history, geography, civics and government, economics and financial literacy, and culture are addressed with increasing rigor and relevance at each grade level. Underlying these strands is the belief that all students should understand social studies and develop civic efficacy. Students should also acquire and perfect knowledge, understanding, and skills of individual and group inquiry and examine a broad range of peoples and cultures. From social studies students gain the attitudes and values that enable them to be effective problem-solvers, good decision-makers, and wise planners. As a result of an effective social studies education, they are prepared to deal with present, recurring, and unforeseen problems at the local, state, national, and global levels.

The Social Studies Essential Standards emphasizes the following strands as a framework for social studies at every level:

- Individual identity and development
- Cultures and diversity
- Government and active citizenship
- Historic perspectives
- Geographic relationships
- Economics and development
- Global connections
- Technological influences and society

Students entering the ninth grade in 2012- 13 will need four social studies credits for graduation. The fourth requirement is satisfied with the division of American History into two courses. Students may opt to take AP US History, which encompasses all information in both American History I and II, and may be substituted for the American History I and II course requirements. If a student elects to take AP US History as a substitute for the required American History I and II courses, then that student must take a social studies elective course in order to meet the new requirements of four social studies credits for graduation. If this is the case, the elective course may be taken at any time and not necessarily directly preceding or directly following the AP course. American History I should directly precede American History II. Any social studies elective listed satisfies the fourth social studies credit.

AMERICAN HISTORY II

Course Code: 43052X0C Fee (if applicable): n/a

Offered at: All High Schools Grade(s): 11,12

Prerequisite: American History I

AMERICAN HISTORY II-HONORS - Course Code: 43055X0C

The Founding Principles will guide students from the late nineteenth century time period through the early 21st century. Students will examine the political, economic, social and cultural development of the United States from the end of the Reconstruction era to present times. The essential standards of American History II: The Founding Principles will trace the change in the ethnic composition of American society; the movement toward equal rights for racial minorities and women; and the role of the United States as a major world power. An emphasis is placed on the expanding role of the federal government and federal courts as well as the continuing tension between the individual and the state. The desired outcome of this course is for students to develop an understanding of the cause-and-effect relationship between past and present events, recognize patterns of interactions, and understand the impact of events on the United States in an interconnected world.

AMERICAN HISTORY: THE FOUNDING PRINCIPLES, CIVICS AND ECONOMICS

Prerequisite: None

AMERICAN HISTORY: THE FOUNDING PRINCIPLES, CIVICS AND ECONOMICS-HONORS

Course Code: 42095X0C

Formerly known as Civics and Economics, American History: The Founding Principles, Civics and Economics provides a framework for understanding the basic tenets of American democracy, practices of American government as established by the United States Constitution, basic concepts of American politics and citizenship and concepts in macro and micro economics and personal finance. The essential standards are organized under three strands – Civics and Government, Personal Financial Literacy and Economics. The Civics and Government strand develops students' increased understanding of constitutional democracy and the fundamental principles and values upon which they are founded, the skills necessary to participate as effective and responsible citizens and the knowledge of how to use democratic procedures for making decisions and managing conflict. The Economic and Personal Financial Literacy strands provide students with an understanding of the role economic factors play in making economic decisions, the ability to reason logically about key economic issues and manage personal financial resources effectively for lifetime financial security.

CURRENT AFFAIRS AND ISSUES-HONORS

Course Code: 96105X0CCA Fee (if applicable): n/a

Offered at: JHS, SBHS, SWHS Grade(s): 9, 10, 11,12

Prerequisite: None

Current Affairs and Issues is an honors-level course that investigates the world through thematic perspectives providing students with an understanding of the uniqueness of different cultures as compared to their own cultural identity. This course will investigate the cultures of three other world language populations (Spanish speaking populations, Chinese speaking populations and Arabic speaking populations). Current Affairs and Issues features cross-cultural learning experiences through the themes of culture and its characteristics, language, geopolitics, dynamic history, and religion. Issues such as human rights, gender issues, resource problems and conflicts will be investigated by students with an intercultural lens. Students will employ critical thinking skills and begin to ask questions about what is happening, why it is happening, and where it is happening. Students will comprehend the significance and degree to which cultures are becoming increasingly interconnected and how this connectivity affects their potential impact as 21st century global citizens.

Using observation, the scientific method, and cross-cultural examination, students will discover how patterns of behavior develop, culture is learned, and social predictions are made.

TURNING POINTS IN AMERICAN HISTORY-HONORS

Course Code: 43095X0C Fee (if applicable): n/a

Offered at: NHS, RHS, SBHS,
SWHS, WOHS Grade(s): 10,11,12

Prerequisite: None

This course emphasizes in great depth 10-15 key turning points in American History. These are “hinge” events in our nation’s history, caused by, and subsequently contributing to, major social, cultural, political, and/or economic events. The continuum of the turning point timeline should have “ripple effects” between each point. These turning points when considered chronologically should ultimately provide a narrative of United States history. A major element of each turning point should be an understanding of historical methods and the use of historical inquiry. Students should essentially become historians to better understand and appreciate the narrative of a people, a nation, and a world. (Possible Turning Points: 9/11, Roanoke Island/Jamestown Settlement, Salem Witch Trials, Proclamation of 1763, Election of 1800, Invention of the Cotton Gin, The Liberator/Nat Turner's Rebellion, The Mexican War, The Compromise of 1877, Chicago's World Fair, McKinley's Assassination, The 19th Amendment, The Scopes-Monkey Trial, The New Deal Coalition, The Little Rock 9, 1968, The Fall of the Berlin Wall).
