In just a few short weeks, we'll embark on a new adventure as we welcome in the 2016-17 school year.

We celebrated many accomplishments last year including reaching our 2013-16 Strategic Goal of 90 percent graduation. We graduated over 91 percent of students in the Class of 2016 4-year cohort. The class also earned over $3.1 million in scholarships and there were 23 students who graduated with an unweighted GPA of 4.0. We can't wait to see what the Class of 2017 will bring to the table this year!

In Asheboro City Schools, we believe that learning doesn't end at 3:30 p.m., and the same applies for the end of the school year. To practice what we preach, we offered 15 extended summer learning camps that afforded students of all ages and grade levels opportunities focused on reading, writing, STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art and math), civic responsibilities and healthy living. By effectively utilizing our students' time and the talents of our gifted educators, we have seen growth and proficiency soar over the course of these summer camps.

The attendance and enthusiasm have been incredible. This was our pilot year, and we look forward to building on our extended learning offerings next summer.

Over the summer, our administrators have been hard at work ensuring each decision made is rooted in a student-centered focus. To close out the 2015-16 school year, administrators from each school participated in service learning projects across the Asheboro community. In all, the team served over 75 hours at various organizations including the Central Boys and Girls Club, Habitat for Humanity (ReStore and building site), Our Place Adult Day Care Center, Christians United Outreach Center and the N.C. Zoo. This Asheboro City Schools is projected to serve 4,754 students for the 2016-17 school year.

Students report for their first day on Monday, Aug. 29.

projects over the coming years at our schools to maintain appropriate learning environments for our students. In fact, numerous projects throughout our school system already have been completed during the past two school years such as new bleachers on the visitors’ side of the football stadium at Eastern Randolph High, a new cooking lab at Randleman High, a new parking lot entrance at Archdale-Trinity Middle, the replacement of a section of the roof at Seagrove Elementary and the replacement of doors at Franklinville Elementary. The entire “9-Year Facility Upgrade/Repair Plan,” as well as the progress on different projects per year, can be accessed on our school system’s webpage at www.randolph.k12.nc.us.

In closing, it is my hope that the 2016-17 school year is a positive experience for you. As a school system, it is our goal to continually improve in the future. It also is important for our students to enjoy their time in our school system and leave with multiple options for their future. In addition, I want to “thank” our staff members, parents and community members for the tremendous level of support for the school system over the years.

Without a doubt, it is a great time to be a part of this special school system, the Randolph County School System!

Dr. Stephen Gainey is superintendent of the Randolph County School System.

opportunity afforded our administrators time to understand one another and the needs of our community, in order to better serve the needs of each student in the Asheboro City Schools district. The team then worked diligently and collaboratively to develop continuous improvement plans for their schools and individualized education plans for their students.

As we gear up for the 2016-17 school year, there is so much to be excited about. We are piloting the Dual Language Immersion program at Balfour Elementary School. This program is designed for incoming kindergartners to learn in both English and Spanish. Their classes will be held on a A-day, B-day schedule.

Studies have shown that students who participate in these types of programs can think more critically, and they develop the skills that make them bilingual, biliterate and bicultural.

We’ll also introduce the Advanced Placement Capstone program this year at Asheboro High School. This will allow our high school students to participate in even more advanced classes to help them better prepare for college and beyond. The AP Capstone program is only offered to school districts who have shown their students to be ready and willing for the offering by how they performed in the AP tests conducted by the College Board.

In addition to the Dual Language Immersion and AP Capstone programs, we’ll also host the second leg of the Superintendent’s Reading Challenge with a goal of 250,000 books, we’ll embark on the new Strategic Plan for 2016-21 with a goal of reaching 100 percent graduation, along with several other programs on the horizon.

On a more personal note, I am delighted to call the Asheboro community home. I have felt nothing but welcoming support since I arrived. This is a special school district and a special community. Because of its size, Asheboro City Schools has the ability to offer its students and staff a wealth of opportunities and resources and I am excited to support and be a small part of the district’s continued growth and success. I know, with the help and support of our staff, families and community, the 2016-17 school year will be one of Asheboro City Schools’ best ones yet!

Dr. Terry W. Worrell is superintendent of Asheboro City Schools.

Local school bus transportation officials are finalizing school bus routes for the 2016-17 school year.

These routes are established with the safety of students in mind. “Safety is priority,” said Derek Clark, director of transportation for the Randolph County School System which transports more than half its students over 12,300 miles each school day.

Each school system addresses bus routing differently; rural roads have more stops than locations where sidewalks are readily available.

For Randolph County students, the online bus transportation request deadline has passed. Parents of new students or those who may have moved in Randolph County are advised to contact their child’s school as soon as possible and fill out a paper form regarding their new address or they can call county schools’ Transportation Office at 336-318-6120 and supply the information.

These changes can be incorporated into the county schools school bus route information which will be available at all upcoming open houses. Last minute revisions reported at the open houses impact the routes which start the following Monday.

Asheboro City Schools is in the process of creating its bus schedules and routes for new students who are enrolling and need transportation. David Hayes, transportation supervisor, said bus route information is available at each school, so parents are encouraged to call their child’s school first and speak to the data manager who can access PowerSchool and see what bus route the student will use. If the student is new to the district, the data manager will enroll them and let the transportation staff know, so a bus stop can be created to accommodate the new student needing services.

Unless road or other conditions make it inadvisable, public school buses are routed on state-maintained highways, municipal streets or other streets with publicly dedicated right-of-way. State guidelines also state that each public school bus shall be routed so that the bus passes within one mile of the residence of each pupil assigned to that bus; a pupil who lives one and one-half miles or more from the school to which the pupil is assigned is eligible for school bus transportation.
The Randolph County School System is projected to serve 17,449 students for the 2016-17 school year. Students report for their first day on Monday, Aug. 29.

Kindergarten, 7th-grade vaccinations required

North Carolina law requires all children in the state to receive certain immunizations for entry into North Carolina schools.

The purpose of the law is to ensure all children are protected against vaccine-preventable diseases like polio, Hepatitis B, measles, chickenpox, whooping cough, rubella (German measles) and mumps.

There are several vaccines that a child needs to receive prior to entering kindergarten. For the 2016-17 school year, children who will be 5 years old by Aug. 31, 2016, are eligible to enter kindergarten.

Additionally, all children entering seventh grade or who have reached 12 years of age are required to have one dose of Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria, acellular pertussis) vaccine and one dose of meningococcal vaccine.

Parents/guardians are responsible for presenting these up-to-date immunization records for their children by the first day of school or within 30 calendar days from the first day. If proof of vaccination is not provided by the end of the initial 30 calendar day period, the child will be suspended from school until proof of immunization is provided as required by law or it’s shown that the child has begun the immunization process.

All public, charter, private, federal and religious schools in the state are required to report the immunization status of all kindergarten and seventh-grade students each year.

School entry

Below is a basic guide of the immunizations required for school entry:

✦ DTaP (diphtheria, tetanus and acellular pertussis) — 5 doses
✦ Polio — 4 doses
✦ Hib (Haemophilus influenzae type B) — 3-4 doses
✦ Hepatitis B (Hep B) — 3 doses
✦ Measles — 2 doses
✦ Mumps — 2 doses
✦ Varicella (chickenpox) — 2 doses
✦ Rubella — 1 dose

Pneumococcal, Hepatitis A and Flu vaccines are not required, but are recommended for this age group by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices.

Seventh grade

Students entering seventh grade are required to be up to date on all the school entry required vaccines plus:

✦ Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis) - 1 dose
✦ Meningococcal - 1 dose.
✦ (HPV, Hepatitis A, Flu and a second dose of Varicella vaccine are not required, but are recommended for this age group by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices.)

Vaccines are available from health care providers or local health departments.

Uwharrie: Randolph’s first local charter school

A public charter school, Uwharrie Charter Academy, serves students residing in Randolph County in addition to the two public school systems, Asheboro City Schools and the Randolph County School System.

Uwharrie, the first charter school to serve the county, also has students from other counties, including Montgomery. It’s a tuition-free, public school open to all North Carolina students. It operates with its own board of directors, independent of local public school systems, on a modified year-round schedule.

2016-17 school year classes began Aug. 8 for approximately 800 students in grades 6-12. About 400 were reported to be on the waiting list for the seven grades.

This is the fourth year for the charter school which began serving high school students in grades 9-10 and expanded by a grade each year. It has reached its maximum 500-student, high school enrollment this year. The first class graduated in June this year. Students attend Uwharrie Charter Academy’s new high school facility, which opened last August and is located at 5326 U.S. 220 Business South, Asheboro.

The charter school received state approval in 2015 to begin its middle school operation, serving grades 6-8. Uwharrie Middle Grades is housed for a second year in leased space at the former Klaussner Home Furnishings showroom at 301 Lewallen Road, Asheboro. This location was also used for the high school its first two years of operation.

The school is already experiencing growing pains and looking to expand its educational facilities south of Asheboro in Randolph County. The Uwharrie board hopes to break ground on a Phase II construction project for the middle school later this year, according to Uwharrie’s chief education officer, Heather Soja, who also serves as the two schools’ superintendent.

The school focuses on project-based learning and innovative, student-centered instruction which is receiving attention from other charter schools, both in North Carolina and out of state.

For further information about Uwharrie Charter Academy, go to its website at www.uwharriecharter.org.
