A ‘Blessing’ to the community

The students of Level Cross Elementary School’s Loving Lions Club work on a Blessing Box for the community. Led by teachers Christine Marley, Kayla Barbour and and Katie Husband, the club consists of second- through fifth-graders who want to give back to the community.

Earlier projects included reaching out to local nursing homes and first responders. This year’s Blessing Box is designed to provide items such as hygiene products and canned food.

The message is ‘Take what you need! Give what you can!’
