Trinity FFA hosts leadership conference

Last month FFA members from the Guilford County Federation, which consists of Trinity, Wheatmore, Eastern Randolph, Southwest Randolph, Randelman, Providence Grove, Southern Guilford, Asheboro, Uwharrie Ridge and Southeast Guilford high schools attended Federation Leadership conference, or FLC for short.

Nine of the 10 schools sent students, with the total number of students attending being roughly 60. While at FLC students had the opportunity to participate in different workshops to strengthen their leadership skills. One workshop was about serving the community, another was about public speaking, and the final workshop was about goal setting and how to achieve those goals. Those three workshops were prepared by the nine federation officers. The final workshop was prepared by the FFA state president, Alan Johnson.

The event was hosted by Trinity High School.

To prepare for the conference we had to organize the schedule for the events being held, prepare the cafeteria for the conference, and cook all the food served at the conference. Federation Leadership Conference is one of the few opportunities I get to meet with students from other chapters, and I like being able to talk with them and teach them new and different things about FFA. I believe that these skills are important for not just FFA members to have, but for everyone to have. It is an honor for this event to happen during national FFA week, the week we get to honor the existence of our student organization.”

Josh Riddick is the Trinity FFA Vice President and reporter.