Sixth grade Language Arts students in Danielle Cooper Scott’s class at Uwharrie Middle School participated in a Living Wax Museum on March 10, 2017. The students brought characters from the "Percy Jackson" book series to life. Students created scripts that included quotes, identification of character type, symbolism, their character’s impact on the novel, and a little history lesson about himself/herself. They were asked to dress up or create a 3D model.
