What? Back to school already

Sara Auman, a kindergarten teacher at Randleman Elementary School, looks for names on desks as she sets out material for parents to pick up during open house Thursday. Auman, who has been a teacher for five years, four of them at the elementary school, is preparing for the first day of school for students. For the Asheboro City Schools, Randolph County School System and Uwharrie Charter Academy, classes begin on Monday.