ERIC SHENINGER, SPOTSWOOD DIRECTOR OF TECHNOLOGY INTEGRATION AND INNOVATION, SELECTED TO SERVE AS ADOBE EDUCATION LEADER

SPOTSWOOD, NJ - Adobe Systems has announced that Eric Sheninger has been selected to serve a new two-year term as an Adobe Education Leader (AEL). Adobe Systems has recognized the work that Eric does as innovative on a global scale, with potential to influence others beyond our District.

AELs help refine a vision of effective technology use that can enhance learning and scholarship in education environments. They explore innovative educational solutions with the tools and training which are provided, and share their discoveries through publication, training their peers, or presenting to the broader education community. Being part of this program puts Eric in regular touch with educators around the world. AELs can share and learn innovative practices that may benefit them as they work in their current roles. They advocate for greater creativity in the classroom and share skills with their peers to deliver such experiences to students.

Dr. Rocco, Superintendent of Schools stated, "We are fortunate to have such an accomplished educator on our staff who aspires to be a leader in educational technology use."
